Sigmund Freud, the missing link in Water and Sanitation?

Stockholm Environment Institute; Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation; Swiss Water Partnership and WASTE

Unconscious physiological barriers and deeply enrooted attitudes originating from early psychological development may hinder the implementation of projects in the water and sanitation sector. After an introduction by an eminent psychoanalyst, the audience explores interactively its unconscious values on wastewater and sanitation and reflects on the implications for the design of sanitation programs.

SUN 28 AUG 9 AM-10:30 AM room NL Music Hall

The Business of Sustainable Water and Sanitation for the Poor

Antenna Technologies, iDE, Swiss Agency for Cooperation and Development, Swiss Water Partnership and Toilet Board Coalition

Achieving SDG6, universal access to sanitation and water by 2030, requires a business ecosystem in which low-income consumers can purchase aspirational toilet facilities and household water treatment technologies at affordable prices. Technological innovations, local entrepreneurs and powerful partnerships have put this goal within our grasp, how do we overcome barriers and accelerate to scale?

MON 29 AUG 4 PM-5:30 PM room NL 461

How to engage local Water Organisations in an integrity process?

Caritas Switzerland, Cewas, KEWAS-NET, Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation (SDC), Swiss Water Partnership (SWP), Water Integrity Network

20-40 billion US$ are annually lost in the water sector due to corruption and illicit practices. Safe drinking water for all will not be efficiently and sustainably achieved unless integrity (encompassing transparency, accountability and participation) issues are tackled. In this event, local project coordinators share their experience in engaging in such a process together with other stakeholders.

THU 01 SEP 9 AM-10:30 PM room FH 202

Turning errors into actions: Continuous Improvements!

HELVETAS Swiss Intercooperation, International Development Entreprises, Eawag/Sandec, Swiss Water Partnership (SWP), the Water Institute at University of North Carolina

How to ensure that monitoring results - successes or failures - are effectively translated into actions and thus ensure continuous improvement? Following short inputs, a world cafe session will be facilitated around the topics of adaptive planning through innovative funding mechanisms and organisational and project procedures for continuous quality improvement.

THU 01 SEP 11 AM-12:30 PM room FH 202

Systematic behavior change to ensure usage of WASH infrastructure

Eawag/Sandec, HELVETAS Swiss Intercooperation, Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation (SDC), Swiss Water Partnership (SWP), World Health Organization (WHO)

To ensure sustainable sanitation for all, hardware must be accompanied by programs that generates adequate water, sanitation and hygiene practices. This session introduces a comprehensive approach to systematic behavior change through a poster market presenting previous and ongoing projects, experience reports by practitioners that have applied the approach, and extensive plenary discussions.

THU 01 SEP 2 PM-3:30 PM room NL 461

Water risk in times of globalisation and sustainable development

Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation (SDC), Swiss Water Partnership (SWP), World Wide Fund for Nature (WWF)

Today, water risks is a major challenge. Countries in Europe face it through import of goods and services sourced in other countries. Although different tools and approaches exist to mitigate this risk, little is done. Those who have engaged on the topic discuss their perspectives and present approaches they use.
